              given to me in my work when we were trying to do 14:27:57
14:28:00
          2
              this.
                     That wasn't a complete list, but it was a 14:28:03
              sample of rules.
          3
14:28:06
                         If these brokers, this group that was withdrawing to form something else complied with 14:28:08
          5
              the rules about membership and admittance and 14:28:13
          6 14:28:17
              various other things, it would not be 7 14:28:21
              anticompetitive necessarily at all.
              BY MR. KRAMER:
14:28:23 9
                         Let's go back to your opinion that 14:28:23 10
              threats of withdrawal from an MLS as a result 14:28:24 11
14:28:26 12
              of the VOW policy were reasonable and any such 14:28:30 13
              withdrawal would have been harmful to competition.
14:28:33 14
              What did you mean there by "harmful to competition," please?
14:28:35 15
                         Most, if not all, of the new 14:28:38 16
                   Α.
              technologies and the platforms that provide 14:28:41 17
14:28:47 18
              MLS-type features, Google, Yahoo, Point 2, AOL, MSN, Trulia -- I could go on -- they have because 14:28:56 19
              of their business models larger firms with more 14:29:01 20
              listings and more advertising dollars, can purchase 14:29:04 21
              and hold the top search positions in those search 14:29:07 22
              engines; and therefore, what would end up happening 14:29:11 23
14:29:13 24
              is that the largest firms with the largest budgets
```

Page 197
              and the largest number of listings and the most 14:29:15
          1 14:29:18
              traffic and the most references, and there is all 14:29:21
              kinds of measurements on these sites -- Yahoo is 14:29:24
              another one -- that the firms that are largest with 14:29:27
         5 the most listings would be found first by any consumer doing a search. That's what I was 14:29:31
14:29:33
              referring to in that regard.
         7
14:29:38
                         I am sorry to skip back, but I 0. overlooked a question I meant to ask a little while 14:29:40 9
14:29:42 10
              ago, and when you were talking about groups of brokers threatening to withdraw from an MLS in 14:29:50 11
              connection with the VOW opt-out policy, what was 14:29:52 12
              your expectation of what the withdrawing brokers 14:29:57 13
14:30:02 14
              that threatened withdrawal would do as a substitute 14:30:06 15
              to the original MLS?
                         I just mentioned a number of technology
14:30:06 16
                   Α.
              companies and I will mention them again for this 14:30:09 17
              particular question. Google, Yahoo, Trulia, Point 14:30:11 18
              2 -- that's with the number "2" after the word
14:30:15 19
14:30:19 20
              "point" -- Reply, Homescape. I can go on and list numerous companies that have search and retrieval 14:30:26 21
              capabilities on a real estate, residential real 14:30:30 22
              estate website which would provide most, if not 14:30:33 23
              all, of the MLS search and retrieval that's 14:30:38 24
```

Page 198
              required by consumers, agents and brokers.
14:30:40
          1
                         Mr. Murray, what information did you 14:30:47
                   0.
          2 consider in reaching your opinion that threats of 14:30:50
          3 withdrawal from the MLS as a result of the VOW 14:30:53
14:30:55 5 policy were reasonable and any such withdrawal would have been harmful to competition?
14:30:59
                         As I have just said, most, if not all, 14:31:01
          7
                   Α.
14:31:05 of the current technology providers that we are aware of that could replace the technologies 14:31:08 9
              provided by MLS provide for a bias in the search 14:31:10 10
14:31:15 11
              for property, and the bias can favor and does often favor the largest, the ones who spend the most, the 14:31:21 12
              ones who have the most listings and so on and so 14:31:24 13
              forth, which is contrary to the way MLSs operate 14:31:27 14
14:31:31 15
              today.
                         And do the technology companies that you 14:31:32 16
              just referenced permit the exchange of offers of 14:31:33 17
              cooperation and compensation?
14:31:37 18
                         Not today, not to my knowledge.
14:31:38 19
                   Α.
                         Do you have any knowledge of them
14:31:40 20
                   0.
14:31:45 21
              offering that in the near future?
                         I know of at least one company that is 14:31:46 22
                   Α.
              building that into their capabilities already.
14:31:48 23
                         What company is that?
14:31:51 24
                   0.
```

	Page 199
14:31:51 1	A. Point 2 Technologies.
14:31:54 2	Q. And would you elaborate on what you know
14:31:56 3	about that, please?
14:31:56 4	A. I know that they are building in fields
14:32:00 5	into their data that has to do with the offer of 14:32:05 6	compensation and the offer to cooperate with
14:32:10 7	agents. They also are one of the few that operate
14:32:14 8	within the Point 2 system what we would refer to
14:32:16 9	as a peer-to-peer networking system where agents
14:32:21 10	and/or brokers now can execute what's called a
14:32:26 11	handshake. That is, if I am an agent and put my 20
14:32:29 12	listings on my personal site and you are an agent
14:32:31 13	in the same market with your 20 listings, if we
14:32:34 14	both agree to a handshake, then my listings are on 14:32:37 15	your page and your listings are on my page, which
14:32:40 16	now broadens the number of potential visitors to
14:32:43 17	our mutual site.
14:32:44 18	Q. So that handshake requires a
14:32:49 19	coordination between individual brokers?
14:32:50 20	A. Literally it's, you know, do you agree
14:32:54 21	this guy offers you a handshake, and you look at it
14:32:57 22	and you go "I agree," click. It's automatic.
14:32:59 23	Q. I take it, though, there are some
14:33:02 24	underlying considerations before agreeing to a

Page 200 14:33:03 1 handshake? 14:33:04 Α. You know, I don't know the level of 2 14:33:06 detail, but as far as I know, the actual if you and 3 14:33:10 I knew each other and respect each other and both 14:33:13 wanted to exchange listings, it would be a matter 5 14:33:17 of those two mouse clicks. 6 14:33:18 Let's go back to the opinion we were 7 0. 14:33:21 discussing about, and let's go to the other facet, the threats of withdrawal from the MLS as a result 14:33:24 9 14:33:28 10 of the VOW policy were reasonable. What 14:33:30 11 information did you consider in reaching that facet 14:33:34 12 of the opinion? 14:33:35 13 Α. Discussions with numerous brokers and 14:33:37 14 reading of some documents that they had written. 14:33:47 15 Anything else, sir? 0. 14:33:49 16 No. Α. 14:33:52 17 And are the discussions that you are Ο. 14:33:53 18 talking about with numerous brokers the ones that we were discussing before the last break? 14:33:57 19 14:33:59 20 Α. Some of them were in those discussions, 14:34:01 21 yes. 14:34:04 22 Which brokers do you remember 0. 14:34:08 23 specifically then in connection with those 14:34:16 24 discussions that we are talking about now as
